PEACE MISSION.

CANTON TO APPOINT DELEGATES

"THE NEXT STEP"

"LITTLE PROSPECTS ARE ROSY"

To-day the salient point in the movements towards a settlement of the "strike" is that everything now hinges on the appointment by Canton of a delegation to negotiate with Hongkong's representatives.

This morning the "China Mail" was authoritatively informed that the departure of the Colony's mission, namely, the Hon. Sir Paul Chater, the Hon. Mr. Chow Shou-son, the Hon. Mr. H. Kotewall, Mr.
D. G. M. Bernard, will be fixed when Canton has announced the constitution of their body.

In the best informed circles
it is considered that the report published of actual appointments
is premature.

Interviewed by a vernacular paper representative at a private Chinese club last night, the coo-man of the "second merchant mission" emphasised that he had come down to Hongkong on private business and in a purely personal capacity.

In reply to a query he indicated that the prospects were rosy and that favourable intelligence would be available shortly.

It is believed that the sailing of Messrs. Yeung Sai-ngam and Kun Kiu-shan from Canton was delayed from Saturday to yesterday owing to their being called to an important conference almost on the moment of departure, though the discussions were stated to be of an informal nature.

Since the return of the first Canton "unofficial" delegation
many steps have been taken behind the scenes.

The Hongkong Union of District
Commercial Associations has written to Mr. Wong Ching-wai (chairman, Nationalist Provincial Government) outlining the reception accorded the merchants here
and laying stress on Hongkong's cordiality and friendliness.

The merchant delegates also got in touch with the Kwangtung authorities and Mr. Wong is reported as having consulted Dr.
C. C. Wu on the matter.

Another noteworthy incident is the return to the Colony on Saturday of Dr. S. W. Tse who maintains that his trip to Canton was entirely in connection with private affairs. On Sunday he was one of those who met Messrs.
Yeung and Kan at the Steamboat
Co.'s wharf.

This morning the "Wah Kiu Yat Po" published a cable from Canton, dated yesterday, to the effect that in connection with the ending of the strike, the labourers would select a delegate and the merchants one. The merchant nominee, however, would act strictly as a third party, using good offices as mediator and not participating in the actual deliberations.

Later,
This afternoon the "China Mail" was informed that a meeting of the delegates will be held at 4 p.m. at the Chinese Merchants' Club, when interesting developments were expected.

Confirmation has been obtained that the report of Canton's appointments was premature.

It is admitted that Messrs.
Yeung and Kan are down here in connection with the negotiations.
They were acting strictly as individuals—not even could their visit be described as "semi-official."
It was stated—but in their personal capacities they were assisting in bringing matters to a head.

Chinese gentlemen who have received correspondence from members of the last delegation declare that most of the pioneering work is accomplished. Accordingly more definite information is anticipated.

NEWSPAPER OFFICE FIRED

TUAN AND PENG

(Reader's Service)

Peking, Nov. 30.

Later during the proceedings
the speakers urged the formation of a revolutionary army to overthrow the Government.

A parade was organised and the demonstrators later succeeded in setting fire to the offices of the "Chen Pao," causing some damage before the fire brigade extinguished the blaze. The police arrested the self-confessed leader of the incendiaries.

TUAN'S UMBREAGE

Huang Pu, who Tuan Chi-jui sent to Kalgan to confer with Feng Yu-shiang, returned last night. He reported that Feng had no suggestion to offer. Tuan is reported to have taken umbrage at this reply, and has now sent Hsu Shih-yung and the Vice-War
Minister Chia Teh-yu to Kalgan to make a further effort to persuade Feng Yu-shiang either to go to Peking or to put forward a concrete proposal for carrying on the Government.

"I am ready to go but I want to hand over to my successor," Tuan Chi-jui is stated to have declared.

EARLIER CABLES

Peking, Nov. 29.

A mandate issued accepts the resignation of Yen Kung-cho and appoints Kung Hsin-chan as acting Minister of Communications.

To-day's demonstration had a decidedly Communist tinge,
the students assembling being not only Kuomintangists but also a large number of workers, rich-men and other coolies. No national flags were observed, the students carrying the Canton flag and the workers red flags.

The workers were all armed with stout sticks and accompanied by motor cars with doctors and nurses. The demonstrators are now parading the streets and distributing pamphlets demanding the overthrow of Tuan Chi-jui (to kill Chu Shen and shoot all traitors); to dissolve the Tariff Conference and arm all the people for a popular revolution and a real national conference. So far there is no violence.

DEMONSTRATORS TONE DOWN

Peking, Nov. 29.

This afternoon's student demonstration for the purpose of receiving Lu Chung-lin's reply to demands made was not so largely attended as yesterday's gathering, probably because yesterday's display of violence aroused misgivings among the more timorous
as to the likely consequences.
The immediate dissolution of the Tariff Conference was one slogan prominently displayed this afternoon and the list of Tuan Chi-jui's alleged crimes against the people was posted up.

Pleading indisposition Lu
Chung-lin refrained from attending the gathering and the students proceeded to discuss plans for the next move which threatens to include an attack on the "Chen Pao"
on account of its anti-Communist tendencies.

Peking, Nov. 29.

The Manchurian situation is clarifying. Kuo Sung-ling's vanguard in twelve trains arrived at Chin Wang Tao yesterday, he claims to have occupied Shan Hai Kuan and his headquarters will be at Chin Wang Tao. The Chang Tso-linites have a division and a half and Chung Tsen-so two divisions at Chinchow. The Jehol army is going to Chinchow to assist Chang Tso-lin and the first clash is expected at Wahchaitun near Shan Hai Kuan. The twelve aeroplanes which Kuo Sung-ling seized have now flown to Mukden and are being used to drop propaganda pamphlets over Kuo's troops.

The advance of the Hogen
troops into Shantung continues.
Chang Tso-ling is concentrating at Weihai and Chinchow, and is apparently preparing to leave Shantung with the remnants of his army and go by gunboat to Manchuria.

Shanghai, Nov. 29.

Kuo Sung-ling has issued a manifesto against Chang Tso-lin in which he declares that he is ready to fight to the death with him.

FRANCE'S CABINET

LUKEWARM RECEPTION CONCEDED

FRANCE THE PROBLEM

(Reader's Service)

Paris, Nov. 29.

M. Briand's Cabinet is having a lukewarm reception. The Right and Centre hold the opinion that the Cabinet tends too much towards the Left and regret that
M. Briand has not formed a ministry of "national union."

The Socialists are disgruntled owing to their exclusion while the radicals, who have secured a majority of the portfolios, would have preferred M. Herriot as Premier.

M. Louchet's appointment to the Finance Ministry is received with considerable reserve. His ability is not doubted, but his versatility is regarded as being too chameleonic.

The decision to create an Advisory Committee of the Finance Ministry is universally approved.
Generally the parties are inclined to withhold judgment pending a disclosure of the Government's financial programme, on which the Cabinet, like its predecessor,
will stand or fall.

LOST IN GALE.

NO HOPE HELD FOR SCHOONER.

(Editor's Service)

Amsterdam, Nov. 29.

Hope has been abandoned of survival of the crew of the schooner mentioned on November 27.

A cable dated November 27 stated: Two torpedo boats and the cruiser "Heemskerk" are searching in the neighbourhood of the island of Terschelling for the naval pilot schooner which left there early on Tuesday with a crew of thirteen including a captain, chief officer and four pilots,
and is feared to have been lost.
A lifebuoy and the schooner's
dinghy have been washed ashore.
It is surmised that the vessel was sunk in a gale at night by a British schooner.

THE WEATHER.

This morning's weather report states that the anticyclone has weakened further and is now central over the Eastern Sea. Moderate monsoon may be expected along the S.E. coast of China, and over the China Sea.

Until noon to-morrow, the forecast is N.E. winds, moderate; fair.

Moscow, November 29.—In connection with the complaint of the Bradford Chamber of Commerce
alleging that mail to the Far East via Siberia is delayed and sometimes lost, the Commissariat pools declared that they have not yet received any complaints of delay or loss. The average time in transit is a fortnight. There have been two cases of railway wrecks but the mail was delayed only a few hours.

SAINT ANDRA.

THE STORY OF HIS CROSS.

TO-DAY'S FESTIVAL

(Editor's Service)

Amsterdam, Nov. 29.

In one of his essays Tyndall refers to the use of imagination in matters scientific. In the absence of science during the Early and Middle Ages, the abuse of imagination was more obvious than its use. In those old times legends were more prized than facts.

The literal and somewhat prosaic tendency of the modern mind is apt to treat with contempt books which profess to deal with the lives of the Saints, filled as they are with narratives, which test to the uttermost the most credulous reader. It is overlooked that legends are not without value. They rest upon ideals.
The Saints are the ideals of early ages incarnated in flesh and blood;
and despite science, as patrics
they have taken hold of the popular imagination in all countries, the legendary element notwithstanding.

MISSIONARY ZEAL

With St. Andrew we are on safe historical ground in the Gospels, which, however, deal only with his early career. Less prominent than Peter, his brother, Andrew appears a very earnest disciple and a member of what may be termed the inner circle. He seems to have been noted for his missionary zeal. After leaving Jerusalem he proceeded to the borderland of Mesopotamia, where he formed a church on the lines of the primitive one at Jerusalem

A number of other matches, "friendlies," were also played.

A NEW GAME.

HOW SHAKESPEARE WROTE.

SPELLING AND PUNCTUATION.

No scholar has won more prizes in the new and fascinating game of finding out what Shakespeare meant by minute examination of his spelling, his punctuation, and his tricks that compositors played with both than Professor Dover Wilson. He may almost be called the inventor of the game.

In his delightful lecture at the Merchant Taylors' School he tried to take us into Shakespeare's study and show him at work, putting in his stops, and spelling the words according to his own fancy. From the new method of simply looking closely at these small things in the text and manuscripts, that the literary critics of finds have resulted.

It might even be news to some of his hearers that Shakespeare wrote in a kind of script which is long since obsolete. He used the "English" handwriting, in which Professor Dover Wilson thinks he was either old-fashioned or provincial, instead of the Italian, which, of course, is what we write to-day.

Shakespeare, like every other Elizabethan, spelt his words as he liked, and the fact that he had a fancy for certain eccentric spellings—there is the famous example of "scilens" for "silence"—has its bearing on the claim, which Professor Dover Wilson supports, that we have in the interpolated pages of "Sir Thomas More" an actual piece of his manuscript. The compositors in these times were the only people who spelt by rule, and it was suggested that our modern spelling is largely the invention of sixteenth and seventeenth century compositors.

Another new line of research is, of course, punctuation. In Shakespeare's day punctuation was based upon rhythm and pause, and not as it is now upon syntax. Professor Dover Wilson's researches into Shakespeare's punctuation have yielded interesting evidence to support his contention that Shakespeare's punctuation was intended chiefly as a guide to the actor how to speak the lines—when to pause and drop his voice, and so on. For this reason the punctuation of the earliest printed texts becomes extremely important, and the lecturer showed us by recitation what new and subtle effects can be obtained by accepting the old punctuation as, in fact, a guide to the spoken word.

By sympathetic study of what happened when the Elizabethan compositor was left to struggle with the peculiarities of Shakespeare's spellings, contractions, and ways of forming his letters, Professor Dover Wilson has produced many brilliant new emendations. They are, as he confessed, only guesswork, but, then, emendations of Shakespeare's text are never anything else.

Cologne, November 28.—The emendation of the Cologne zone will begin on November 30, is announced.—Reuter.

to a more fuller use of our national resources and thus to a reduction of the number of unemployed in Britain. The rejection of their motion was doubtless responsible for the vote of censure which at the instance of the Labour Party was brought against the Government of "failing in the past three months to propose measures for adequately dealing with unemployment." Whilst this also was rejected by a large majority, its introduction has served a useful purpose in that it has focused attention on the need for the provision of schemes of relief during the approaching winter for even more unemployed than there were at this time last year, with over one and a quarter million. Very considerable schemes have already been approved by the Government in this connection, the Treasury having recently given sanction to three Port of London schemes for new work at Tilbury and for improvements at the West India Dock in addition to a very extensive road work programme. It is satisfactory to note, however, that the mouthpiece of the Government, replying to the criticism in connection with the vote of censure, gave it as the official view that schemes of relief which were merely palliatives were to be deprecated and that the Government was endeavouring to cope rather with the root cause by introducing measures which it is their belief will remove disabilities from home industries and lead to the creation of more opportunity. Mr. Bennett Mackay Donald does not see eye to eye with the Government on this but he is rather handicapped in this regard of public opinion by a record of action which was certainly

NOTED DANCERS.

QUEEN'S THEATRE
ATTRACTION.

A VERSATILE COMPANY.

An evening with the Denishawn dancers, is on the whole a comforting and reassuring experience, and Hongkong will be afforded the opportunity for one night only (to-morrow) when Miss Ruth St. Denis, Mr. Ted Shawn and their company will appear at the Queen's Theatre.

Their creations are more than graceful rhythmic motions. They are dramas, poignant and profound. They portray the most subtle shades of human emotion. The women of the dance are by turns graceful, alluring; then innocently youthful and unconscious of youth's allure; now passionate in their abandon; and again delicate and restrained.

The younger men of the Denishawn ballet for the most part express through their dancing the unrestrained emotionalism of youth; the tragedy that is so moving because it is a youthful tragedy untimely by reflection; the lightness of spirit that disregards the impending cloud; the clean, unfettered passion of youth.

It is Ted Shawn alone among the men whose dancing plumbs the depths of drama, but there is scarcely a shade of emotion, tempestuous, torrential, that he cannot express by the lithe movements of his superb body, finely modelled as a piece of sculpture.

There is a daintiness about Ruth St. Denis that is oddly in evidence even in the most spirited of her dances. She is delicately and gracefully moulded, a creature of spirituality and lofty thinking, and beautifully as she simulates moods other than her own in her dancing, it is this quality that inevitably stands out and that permeates all her work.

Ted Shawn is an able partner for the graceful Miss St. Denis, and together they make a captivating pair. Their every gesture symbolises perfection and harmony of line, and they bring the poetry of motion to the highest point of art.

Of the rest of the company, each is a clever pantomimist as well as being a splendid dancer, and they are exceedingly good to look on, with the physical perfection of young Greeks.

Variety will be the keynote of the programme, and the costumes are beautiful and fascinating creations.

Booking is at Messrs. Moutrie's.

JAPAN AND CHINA.

(Reuter's Service.)

Tokyo, Nov. 28.

The War Office considers the present normal forces of one division and four railway-guard battalions in Manchuria are adequate, though they will be reinforced if protection of life and property of nationals necessitates it.

The Foreign Office despatches from Manchuria state that Japanese citizens are forming volunteer companies for self-protection, but the Government has ordered all nationals to preserve strict neutrality. It is reliably learned that the Government does not expect any serious conflict in China until after the Tariff Conference, when it is feared the rival leaders will plunge China into war. "Little Hu" has visited Baron Shidehara, asking for Japan's assistance for the present Provisional Government, but Baron Shidehara emphasized Japan's intention of preserving strict neutrality.

Paris, November 28.—The final composition of the Cabinet as announced, confirms the Portfolios cabled yesterday, and is a coalition of the left and the centre excluding the socialists, the Radicals have the lion's share of the portfolios, including M. Chautemps (the Interior), which the most important for the electoral viewpoint and Mr. Reno (Renoult (Justice), which carries the Vice-presidency of the Council, M. Painlevé's innovation of dividing the Ministry of Finance between the Minister for the Treasury and the Minister for the Budget is discarded and M. Louchour, who is a Radical, will be the Minister of Finance. The Centre is represented by M. Leygues (Marine), M. Wodgman (Pensions), and the portfolios for Commerce, Public Works, Colonies, and Agriculture are held by the left cabinet.

ST. STEPHEN'S.

A CROWDED CORNER OF HISTORY.

SECRETS OF THE CRYPT.

London contains many places that are full of historic associations, but assuredly Westminster is the neighbourhood where these are concentrated to an extraordinary degree.

One has only to watch the crowd of people who to-day flock to see the Abbey and the Houses of Parliament, to realise that this interest is a real one, and that the attraction is strong (says a writer in the "Westminster Gazette").

The Abbey is one of the priceless legacies left us from the days of Edward the Confessor. The Houses of Parliament, the New Palace of Westminster, stand as the modern representative of a long and glorious line of tradition, still retaining some of the ancient fabric, as a rare old jewel, in a modern setting. Such are Westminster Hall, the Cloisters, and the Crypt of St. Stephen's.

Even the Old Palace of Westminster was but the successor of one still more ancient, for Canute had a royal residence here, where he held Court in 1035.

Of this, which was destroyed by fire, there is no trace remaining, but on the same site the Confessor built a more magnificent Palace, whence he could watch the progress of Westminster Abbey. We read that he pressed this on with energy, for he had set aside a tenth of all his possessions for that object.

ABBOT'S ORDEAL. In this Palace William the Conqueror held his Court in 1035, and here also William Rufus, in 1099, celebrated Whitsuntide on the completion of Westminster Hall. To name the successive occupants of the Palace would be to give a list of all the Sovereigns in their order.

One event may be quoted as of interest, namely that which took place in 1303, when Edward I. was in Scotland. The royal treasure used to be kept within the precincts of the Abbey, and at robbery was committed. Suspicion fell on the Abbot, who was arrested, together with his staff, and taken to the Tower. He was, however, acquitted, and the thief escaped detection.

A considerable portion of the Palace was destroyed by fire in 1532, and until Whitehall Palace passed from Wolsey's hands, the Kings held Court at either Baynard's Castle, Bridewell, or the Tower, of which only the latter has survived.

St. Stephen's Chapel, part of the old Palace, was originally founded by King Stephen, and rebuilt by Edward I. It was injured by a "vehement fire" in 1293, and the rebuilding was begun by Edward II., and continued by Edward III., by whom it was completed. It was the purest style of Gothic, and most exquisitely decorated in every way.

On the suppression of the monasteries, it was converted into a House of Commons, its roof hidden by a false ceiling, and the paintings covered with panelling. This was revealed in 1800, when alterations were being made to accommodate the increased number of members, due to the Union with Ireland.

HISTORY SCENES.

Within these walls were enacted the various historic scenes for several centuries. Here one may recall the discussions of successive generations of leaders, of all types, from Oliver Cromwell to Pitt. Tragedy alternating with comedy, farce with melodrama, a programme is afforded to meet all tastes. Offenders were summoned to the bar of the House, grievances were ventilated, punishments meted out, and cases of all kinds disposed of, sometimes with a hand that might appear to modern eyes somewhat uneven.

Then, in 1834, occurred that disastrous fire, the unrelenting agent of destruction that has swept away so many precious relics from our vision. The Old Palace was a ruin, and on its site, covering an extent of eight acres, the New Houses of Parliament were commenced in 1840. Westminster Hall, the Cloisters, and the Crypt were incorporated in the plan.

The last was restored and re-decorated being fitted up as a Chapel.

The Cloisters are now used as a cloak-room for members of the House of Commons, and Westminster Hall, rescued from the ravages of the beetle, stands, ramshod, it may be hoped for years to come.

ROXOR

HOW TO SPEND.

AN ART NEGLECTED BY THE ENGLISH.

WHAT NOT TO BUY.

Mr. Arnold Bennett is right—there are more people in England who know how to make money than know how to spend. You can always tell an Englishman abroad by the way he spends his money. He is not extravagant in the sense that he pours out large sums of money, writes "Candidus" in the "Daily Graphic." What strikes the observer is his lofty disdain of the small money which runs the course of a day or a week adds up to a formidable total. He either ridiculously stings in his tips, or he overtips grossly, in either case displaying his indifference to money.

He sets apart, unthinkingly, a certain sum of money for lunch or dinner, but provided this is not exceeded he has no idea of getting value for his money, and if he has not the smallest idea of how to get it.

TEACHING THE ART OF SPENDING. Or (to take an example from another class of society) what is the use of a man working himself up to several thousands a year if he still goes on taking Indian tea with steak and chip potatoes, as they still do in Lancashire? And what (in another class again) is the use of knowing all about Einstein, Stravinsky, Shaw, and Anatole France, if he does not know the difference between an Algerian charet and a battle of the right year, and believes that a label on a bottle always describes the contents, and that wine lists tell no lies?

These are examples of the neglect of the art of spending which runs through our lives, and cumulatively subtracts from the real values of our incomes quite as much, in the course of the year, as the income-taxman. I would have at least one man of this world on the teaching staff under every education authority, secretary, and typist, attached to every university. The art of spending is generally forgotten. Belles lettres, in fact, have acquired a disproportionate place in our education.

There are many causes for this sad fact. One is the decay of the art of housewifery among women. I am whole-hearted in favour of equal rights—industrial, political, and professional—for men and women, but the fact remains that 99 women out of a hundred could make more money by good housewifery than they could ever make by anything else. It is not too high an estimate to say that a good housewife can add from 25 to 50 per cent. to the real income of an establishment by the exercise of her art.

It is believed that one contributory cause of this neglect is that the teaching of the country is too exclusively in the hands of unmarried women. The education of girls in this country seems to be designed to qualify them to teach others or to become postmistresses, Civil Servants, secretaries, and typists, and the fact that the vast majority of girls will some day have to run a home is apparently forgotten. Belles lettres, in fact, have acquired a disproportionate place in our education.

LIT BY SOUND.

THE VOICE CONTROL OF ELECTRICITY.

An invention which enables electric current to be controlled by speech has just been patented by a young Nottingham man, L. H. Pearson, of a firm of local electricians.

It is possible by his device to command lights to go on or off, and see them obey, the sound waves being transformed in such a way that they will control any electrical circuit.

At the Nottingham Electrical Exhibition in next week, Pearson caused a sensation by starting up a motor by sound.

In an interview, the inventor said he hoped within a short time to apply the discovery to surgery, enabling a patient's heart beats to be recorded at a distance by light or by recording charts.

Pearson has been working at the invention but a few months, and it was only recently that he began to realise the infinite possibilities which it holds.

But to pursue that topic now would take us too far from our argument.

Many, too, are to blame. Take the example of alcoholic drink. I forget how many millions a year are spent annually on beer, wine, and spirits, but would any people that had any understanding of the art of spending be content to spend all this money in the present type of public-house? If they had any idea of real money values, would the masses not have insisted, long ago on new and improved types of public-houses, and have swept out of the way those foolish justices who refused to fall in with their ideas? And would not the wives of the country have insisted that public-houses should be places fit for them, too?

TEACHING THE ART OF SPENDING. Or (to take an example from another class of society) what is the use of a man working himself up to several thousands a year if he still goes on taking Indian tea with steak and chip potatoes, as they still do in Lancashire? And what (in another class again) is the use of knowing all about Einstein, Stravinsky, Shaw, and Anatole France, if he does not know the difference between an Algerian charet and a battle of the right year, and believes that a label on a bottle always describes the contents, and that wine lists tell no lies?

Wallpapers portray all kinds of Eastern motifs, for example, Chinese or Japanese garden scenes. Others show chrysanthemum, or wisteria blossoms. In curtains the Chinese dragon or dragon cloud form is depicted at times. Biddies have much black in them. Cushions in black show the rising sun embroidered in gold-coloured silk; others, also black, have the Chinese dragon in gold tinsel thread, with the eyes and tongue in Red silk. Lampshades portray Japanese or Chinese figures and garden scenes. Chinaware is shown in bowls and vases of bright glazed well-colours in imitation of the porcelain of the K'anghsi period.

Among the many good stories which Mr. John Burns, who has just celebrated his 87th birthday and his books at Battersea, de-lights to tell, is one concerning the late King Edward. When President of the Local Government Board, Mr. Burns was invited to Sandringham, when, in the course of conversation, his Royal host remarked: "By the way, Mr. Burns, I have been trying in my own little way during the winter to do something for the unemployed. I have engaged quite a number of men making alterations and improvements about the estate here. Perhaps you would like to see what we have done?" "Certainly, Mr. Burns," replied Mr. Burns, adding with a grin: "An Arcadian Shepherdess" and "Cynthia," and "I approve," Ward in Chancery, Mrs. A. M. Bowdler-Smith.

Royal Navy v. Chinese.

Bringing in Pang Kam-wing from the juniors, the Chinese made the first raid.

Through the defence miscalculation Uppington centred to Smith who banged the ball in, after 25 minutes, for the Navy to take the lead.

Just on half-time the Chinese had replied twice. Chan Kwong-in made one of his characteristic wing sprints and passed to Suen who equalised with a cross shot. The second goal came from a free kick on the touch line. Chan So lobbed the leather right into the goalmouth and it seemed to rebound after being cleared by Wavish, into the net. Wong was prominent in worrying the defence when the kick was taken.

After the breather the Navy got into their stride. Both sets of forwards maintained attacks in which the rearwards had anxious times. A movement by Suen led to Chan Kwong-in entering and Wong getting an opportunist goal but the referee gave offside. A corner was given against the Navy but the kick went behind. From the goal-kick the Navy attack moved up. Uppington centred and Goodlett scored the fourth goal of the match.

Navy:—Wavish; Gringle, Wright; Davenport, Hudson, Hingston; Uppington, Hyde, Goodlett, Smith, Shenton.

League, Div. II "A."

Two goals up early on thanks to Hill and Pile finding the mark, the Hongkong F.C. Reserves lost a goal before half-time, Muffett getting through for the Surrey Drums. Huhlings obtained the equaliser from a penalty kick.

St. Joseph's College led by Ward's goal at half-time in their match with Kowloon Reserves. Latham and Vickers were the marksmen to give the Kowloon men the points.

League, Div. II "B."

Tin Lip-fat and Leung Cheong each obtained a goal for South China "C" against the Drum Reserves in the first half. In the second Coates reduced the deficit but Leung beat Dopson a second time.

E. Blanco, (2), A. Blanco and M. Souza put on four for St. Joseph's Boarders against South China "B" all in the first period and Fan Shih-hung got one after the interval.

Houghton, before the breather, and Castillo, scored for St. Joseph's College Reserves against the Modern Club "B."

LAWN BOWLS.

TAIKOO R. C. ANNUAL "AT HOME."

PRIZE DISTRIBUTION.

Postponed several times for various reasons the Taikoo Recreation Club held their annual lawn bowls "At Home" on Saturday with an excellent attendance.

During the afternoon, games were played on six rinks and the decision went in favour of Taikoo by five games to one. On three rinks members of the Taikoo Sugar Refinery opposed members of the China Sugar Refinery (associated with the newly formed East Point Recreation Club), and in these games the home Club were the winners by three games to nil. The other three games should have been played on by representatives of the Kowloon Dock against members of Taikoo Club, but owing to the number of rinks which the Taikoo Club have had to postpone the "At Home," the Kowloon Dock bowlers were unable to keep their engagement, having a fixture on the Kowloon side. Happily, however, the Craigengower Cricket Club bowlers came to the rescue, and were matched against the home Club. In these matches, Taikoo were the victors by two games to one.

At the conclusion of the afternoon's play, Mrs. J. Russell (wife of the Chairman of the Club) presented the bowls trophies and prizes won during the season, and also the prizes given for other club competitions.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH.

Mr. J. Russell (Chairman of the Club) presided at the presentation of prizes which took place at the conclusion of the rink games.

He thanked those present for their attendance that afternoon, and for assisting the Bowling Committee to bring the bowls season to a successful close. This was the fourth attempt they had made to hold this function, but what with other club meetings and the call of the Good Shepherd they had made postponement after postponement, and even that day's game had been doubtful on account of the national mourning. He did not think, however, that their reverence for the Good Queen's memory would lose anything by their recreation there that afternoon. Explaining the manner in which they were closing their green the Chairman said bowling in the Colony had reached such a stage when clubs were so numerous that it was impossible to house rinks from each club. The Bowling Committee thought it would be a fitting manner to close the season with two team contests, and by a happy thought it was decided to invite the members of the newly formed East Point Recreation Club, associated with the China Sugar Refinery, to play the members of their Club, associated with the Taikoo Sugar Refinery.

He might say that when this became known, a well known benefactor to the community came forward with a very handsome "gold" cup. His name, although he had asked him (the Chairman) not to mention it, he thought had better be made known as Lord Teakwood, or some such name. (Laughter.) The conditions attached to this cup were that it be called the "Candy Cup," and that it only be won by the losers. (Laughter.) The second part of the presentation was a very interesting one, and a lot of prizes were given to the winners.

filled by the members of the Kowloon Dock Club who would have played a return match against members of the Taikoo Dock Club, but unfortunately this fell through owing to Taikoo having to make several alterations in the date of the "at home." Kowloon had another fixture for that afternoon and had been unable to fulfil their engagement with Taikoo. Thanks to Mr. Bana and to the Craigengower Cricket Club, the Bowls League Champions for this season, they had been able to carry through. He thanked them, on behalf of the Bowling Committee of the Taikoo Club, for filling in the breach, and coming to play the "Dock" that afternoon. Next year, he was optimistic enough to think, Taikoo would close their green as winners of the League versus the Rest, and although Craigengower said they had the shield as a fixture, they would leave it at that. He hoped the fixture with the China Sugar Refinery would become an interesting and pleasant annual domestic function.

The afternoon had been most successful and pleasant and the weather had been most propitious for the occasion. Bowling in the Club that season had been very successful. They were runners up in the 2nd League, which he was sure they would agree was an achievement when one considered the position bowling held in all clubs in the Colony. Their competitions had been very keen and many interesting games had been carried through. They were successful in housing the Interport game and he thought it surprised quite a number that they had a bowling green or surroundings equal to those they possessed. They as a Club, did everything they could to make the event a success and maintain the reputation of the Colony in Bowls. Bowling in the Colony was steadily increasing, and many found the exercise, especially during the summer, of great benefit to them. It was strange that the ladies had been so slow to take up the sport and he would strongly recommend them to try it and possibly they might see in the near future ladies' championship games.

After expressing the hope that the next season would be as successful as this one had been, the Chairman called upon Mrs. Russell to present the various trophies and prizes.

Before Mrs. Russell did this, Mr. Russell referred to Mr. Ferguson winning the Bowls Championship of the Club, and commented that he was a wonderful skip, a wonderful player and had successfully skipped the Hongkong Interport Bowls Team. The Chairman also paid brief tribute to the late Mr. Sutherland Stewart (whose funeral took place at Happy Valley the previous Saturday). He mentioned that the late Mr. Stewart, who had gone to join the great majority, had won several prizes during the season, and on behalf of the committee of the Club and the members he expressed sympathy with the widow and children in their sad bereavement.

Mrs. Russell then presented the cups and prizes as under:—

Best Break:—Mr. J. McCubbin. At the conclusion of the prize presentation, Mr. W. Robertson (Secretary of Club) thanked Mrs. Russell for presenting the prizes and handed her a beautiful bouquet of flowers in a silver holder as a memento of the occasion. On behalf of his wife, Mr. Russell suitably replied.

The Chairman, on behalf of the Committee and members of the Club, thanked the donors of the prizes and called for three cheers for them.

On behalf of the donors of prizes, Mr. J. Reid responded and said this was possibly the last occasion on which he would be able to give them a prize and suggested that he should give them a shield, which might be competed for in any way they thought fit. (Applause).

The expressing of thanks to the Chairman concluded the proceedings.

Teams from the Navy and the Hongkong Hockey Club met in a friendly match at the United Services Recreation ground on Saturday afternoon. The game was a little short, twenty minutes being played each half. This was due to a start being made on the Club's ground at King's Park. The ground was not in very good order and the match had to be stopped and restarted on the Services ground.

The match was of a very poor order, neither side showing any brilliancy, and in the first half no score was made. In the second half, the Navy, who were playing with more understanding, secured two goals. Lieutenants Fleet and Hill did the scoring.

What is a mother to do?

What is a mother to do when she is worried out of her life because her baby will not get on? Best to do what this doctor did—give him Glaxo.

My boy aged twelve months is in every way up to the standard of an entirely breast-fed baby: is full of vitality and good temper; and has firm flesh and a well-built figure. I cannot speak too highly of your food from personal experience.

KING'S GRIEF.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, Nov. 28.

Popular affection for the Royal family was never more greatly illustrated than in the remarkable demonstrations of grief at the passing of Queen Alexandra and sympathy for the King grief-stricken at his mother's death, the central figure in the prolonged ceremonies in very inclement weather.

His Majesty walked three miles along snowbound roads from Sandringham to Wolferton on Thursday. He walked yesterday from St. James-Palace via the Mall and Whitehall to the Abbey in driving snow.

His Majesty rose early to-day to bid farewell at the station with the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and Prince Henry to the King of the Belgians who left for Brussels.

All stood with their hats in their hands till the train disappeared, and then immediately drove off to prepare for the journey to Windsor to attend the interment in the Albert Memorial Chapel where by the King's wish only Royal mourners will be present.

The lying in state of Queen Alexandra ended at one o'clock in the morning, but when the Abbey was closed the Gentlemen at Arms and the Yeomen of the Guard kept vigil all night long.

They were relieved at daybreak when the coffin was carried to a motor hearse for conveyance to Windsor.

A group of people with heads bared reverently bowed London's last farewell as the hearse glided from the Abbey gates.

The coffin was hidden in the folds of Queen Alexandra's standard.

A few wreaths were still in position.

Two Royal cars with court officials and one with guardsmen and coffin bearers followed.

BOTH AT FAULT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Singapore, Nov. 28.

The certificate of Captain Mortimer of the "Marella" has been suspended for nine months and the certificate of Captain Lane of the "Comus" for three months.

The "Marella" owned by the Burns Philp Line, and the "Comus" owned by the Anglo-Saxon Petroleum Company, collided in the outer roads at Singapore on the afternoon of Saturday, October 24, and both vessels sustained considerable damage, the passengers of the "Marella" being landed after the collision in boats.

ALIVE IN COFFINS.

(Reuter's American Service.)

San Francisco, Nov. 28.

Following the receipt of information from abroad that a scheme was afoot to smuggle Chinese into America, the local director of immigration at Hawaii led a party of searchers over a vessel arriving from the Far East. They had twice ransacked the vessel from top to bottom without success and were about to leave when a searcher in the deepest hold accidentally knocked the top off one of a row of coffins.

The corpse proved to be a young Chinese snugly ensconced with food and baggage. Ten more coffins contained similar contraband.

The authorities hold the opinion that they have unearthed a gigantic conspiracy to smuggle aliens directed by an agency in the Orient which liberally bribes seamen on a per-capita basis.

FRANCE'S FINANCES.

(Reuter's Service.)

Paris, Nov. 28.

M. Briand's solution of the financial policy consists of the appointment of a consultative committee comprising eminent financiers, commercial men, industrial leaders and bankers.

Paris, Nov. 28. M. Briand's Cabinet-making is regarded by the newspapers as another triumph of his adroitness as he depends on the support of the very Radicals who previously refused to follow him unless he included Socialists in his Ministry but who has now quarrelled with the Socialists.

Thus the new Cabinet will consist of moderate Republican elements.

The Communist paper "Humanite" remarks ironically that the Left Cartel ended eighteen months' existence with the resurrection of Briandism.

BACK TO WORK.

(Reuter's Service.)

Sydney, Nov. 29.

The British seamen's strike has ended, the men resuming work on the owners' terms.

Minister: "I was sorry for your wife during the sermon, John. She had such a terrible fit of coughing that the eyes of the whole congregation were fixed upon her."
John (who knows): "Man, ye needn't be none sorry for her; she was wearing her new hat for the first time."

RAID ON JAIL.

(Reuter's Service.)

Dublin, Nov. 28.

Armed raiders in the uniform of the Civil Guard last night obtained admittance to Mount Joy prison by presenting themselves with pretended prisoners. They then held up the warders with revolvers and quickly searched the prison.

They hurried nineteen prisoners into waiting motor cars and escaped.

The police are searching the district but up to the present they have had no success.

LOST IN GALE.

(Reuter's American Service.)

New London (Conn.), Nov. 28.

The "Ocean-Maid" has been released.

The Government's case depended on proving that the "Helen" was capable of reaching the shore in an hour, but the "Helen" has since sunk in a gale.

The British schooner "Ocean-Maid" was seized outside the twelve mile limit, but the coast guards maintained that the seizure was permissible as she was within one hour's sailing distance from the coast. The schooner was taken after the capture of the speed boat "Helen," which was conveying liquor, allegedly from the "Ocean-Maid." Three men on the "Helen" and eight on the "Ocean-Maid" were arrested.

HONGKONG TIDE.

The tide-table given below has been compiled at the National Almanac Office in London from the result of the analysis of observations taken by means of an automatic tide-recording machine in the Water Police Basin at Windward during the years 1900-9. The zero of the table corresponds with the zero of the sounding in the Admiralty Chart, which has been found to be 4 feet 8 inches below mean sea-level. To obtain the depth of water on the tide gauge at the Victoria Naval Yard add 8 feet 4 inches, and on the gauge at Lamoth Dock, Aberdeen, add 10 feet 4 inches to the height given in the table.
